The Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension movement continues to grow in spite of all the ridicule coming from the metropolitan press and the so-called financial experts and politicians. Every State is well organized and altogether over 25,000,000 people are members of the thousands of Townsend Clubs throughout the land. California, the birthplace of the Townsend idea, naturally is one of the best organized. Close to a million signatures have been placed on petitions already sent to Washington from California alone.

Monterey and Pacific Grove have flourishing Townsend clubs, but Carmel is lacking. This surely cannot be because we are not in sympathy with the idea, but probably because no person has taken the initiative in the matter of starting a club.

The Sun would like to get the attitude of the community on the matter of organizing a Townsend club. Are we going to do our part in the fight to put the idea across, or are we disposed to sit idly, while others work, and then when the victory is won,

Open House at Telephone Office

Carmel excels in still another art—the "art" of using the telephone.

People here make 20 times as many telephone calls per capita as do the people of France—the Montmartre included, and one and a half times as many as those of the United States in general, according to Robert P. Sexton, peninsula manager of the telephone company.

Sexton accompanied this statement with an announcement that Carmel telephone employees will hold a three-day "open house" to the public, beginning next Wednesday and continuing to Friday, between the hours of 1:00 and 8:30 p. m.

"The principal feature of the open house will be personally conducted trips through the exchange headquarters, at Dolores and Seventh street," said Sexton. "Employees will explain to visitors how switchboards and equipment operate in handling 1,518,000 calls a year from local telephones."

Numerous special displays prepared for the open house will be supplemented by displays in downtown store windows. The Carmel Hardware Store will show a complete set of the eight types of huge vacuum tubes used in transpacific telephone service. The Carmel Garage will feature a large map illustrating by flashing lights the routes taken by telephone calls to Hawaii, Japan and the Philippines. The Carmel Garage will also display photographs of early-day telephone operators.

SERA WORK STARTS

SOON IN CARMEL

SERA work on Carmel waterfront landscaping and reclamation will begin March 29, according to advices received by the city council. This will mean a payroll of $7260 financed by county SERA and an outlay of $1035 by the city in materials. City will also furnish its own trucks, equipment and supervision.

This is a result of request for SERA projects sent out to communities by the state. A committee in Carmel considered several ideas and finally agreed on a gradual beautifying and preservation of Scenic Drive and its cliffs. Drainage will be cared for and low retaining walls along the foot of the cliffs will stop further erosion.

Planting of shrubs and trees will be controlled to prevent obstruction of view. Unobtrusive convenience stations will be sunk into the cliffs.

A second SERA project starts in Carmel when a $630 codification of city records is undertaken covering documents of the past 10 years. Also to be worked on will be copying and indexing of minutes and resolutions that have accumulated during that period.

Churches Enjoy Luncheon

A guest luncheon was given to the members of the Community Church Auxillary by All Saints Guild. The luncheon was given in All Saints Guild Hall on Tuesday, March 19th.

The reason for the get-together meeting was making bandages for the Leper Colony in French Cameroun, South Africa. There were about 100 rolls made throughout the day. Thirty-five ladies were present, 12 of whom were members of Community Church Auxillary. Before lunch was served the Doxology was sung and a short prayer was given by Rev. Austin B. Chinn. After the meal was over Mrs. John Dickinson, president of All Saints Guild, spoke a few words of welcome to the guests. Miss Agnes Willitsen gave a gracious speech of appreciation in behalf of the Community Church Auxillary, of which she is president.

This delightful affair serves as an illustration of the close bonds of fellowship existing between the two churches. It is but one of many things in which both churches share.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

The general monthly meeting of the Woman's club for the month of April will take place on Monday, April 1, at 2:30 p. m. at the Girl Scout House. The meeting will be entirely devoted to business matters, but the social hour and tea will follow later in the afternoon.

Sunset School News Notes

Dr. Freeland, head of the Department of Education of San Jose Teachers' College, and wife visited the Sunset school Friday last. They viewed the buildings and some of the work on display. Dr. Freeland commented very favorably on the school.

An educational conference is to be held in Monterey at the Grammar School, Saturday, March 30th.

This conference will be headed by Miss Helen Heffernon, chief of the Division of Elementary Education. There will be a two-panel discussion headed by Mr. Horrall, assistant superintendent of schools at San Jose.

Mrs. Ann B. Uzzell, Sunset school librarian, and Mrs. Frances Farley visited the County Library at Salinas Saturday in the interests of securing new library books for use in their classes.

Misses Skogard and Steffins, student teachers at Sunset, completed their work at the school Friday last. After a week's vacation they will resume their work at the San Jose State Teachers' College.

A very lovely play entitled "Hill-top" was given Friday last in the Sunset School auditorium by the pupils of the Fifth grade, under the direction of Miss Kendall. It was very well given and much enjoyed by all.

MARGARET GRANT SPEAKS

The Current Events Section will have its second meeting for the month on Wednesday, March 27th, at 10 a. m. at the Girl Scout House. The chief speaker for the morning will take as her subject, "Mexico." Following this Mrs. Willis J. White, section chairman, will give a review of "Outstanding Events."

Carmel Business People Will Honor Oldest Member

On Tuesday, April 2, J. A. Eustace, resident of the Peninsula for 30-odd years, now in a little shop on Dolores in Carmel, will celebrate the ninetieth anniversary of his birth. Coincidental with this event the Carmel Business Association will present him with a life membership in the association.

At the close of his 89th year, Eustace presents the appearance of a hale 65. He is tall and straight, well-rounded as to figure but not stout; his skin is clear and ruddy, his eyes, though the plagued things are failing in their duty, are clear and sparkling with Irish humor. There is nothing of the gaffer about him.

For nearly three-quarters of a century Eustace has followed a most unusual profession, in fact he knows of no one in the world whose career parallels his. He is a designer of ornamental engraving, fine linens, laces and embroideries. He has headed, in the latter line, establishments of his own, with embroideries after patterns of his own. To all the fine lace-making centers of the world he has sent his designs, to be reproduced by the needlewomen of Vienna, Brussels, Florence.

To his friends and family in London, Eustace was known as "the confounded Eustace"; the lad who regarded school as such an unmitigated bore that he refused to submit to its confinement, but found his own means of learning, at night classes, the fine drawing which was his passion. He spent his days in the parks drawing for his mother, who understood, characteristic sketches of the people who passed.

He was the middle child of a family of nine. All the rest were university graduates. His father bowed to the inevitable and apprenticed him to an engraver. His hand is today as steady as it was in the hey-day of his career; only the refusal of his left eye to focus properly now prohibits his carrying on the fine drawings to which he has devoted his life.

MONTEREY JAPANESE PASTOR TO SPEAK

Rev. S. Asano, recently from Japan and now pastor of the Monterey Japanese church of Christ, will speak at the monthly meeting of the Missionary Society, taking as his subject, "Christ at the Japanese Crossroads."

His address will be in Japanese and will be interpreted by Mr. Yallanda. The time and place are 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, March 25th at All Saint's Parish House. The public is cordially invited.

Miss Margaret Clark will become SERA associate of the Carmel Harrison Memorial library staff. Librarian is now Elizabeth Niles, recently appointed to take the place vacated by Hortense Barry through resignation. Miss Clara Baker continues as Miss Niles' first assistant.

Mr. Alvin of Big Sur is in the Monterey Hospital with an infected hand. He is expected home the early part of the week.

RAINFALL FIGURES

Carmel rainfall climbs steadily toward the 30 inch mark, with an additional .63 registered this week, bringing the season total to 18.78 inches.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Tennis on San Carlos between Eleventh and Twelfth has recently undergone extensive enlargement and improvements. A sleeping room, bathroom, dressing room and closet has been provided on the second floor, while on the first floor the rearrangement provides an attractive dining room.

Robert Norton, Carmel's new chief of police, in his new uniform of blue, trimmed generously with gold braid, and his jaunty blue cap and gold star, has a decidedly metropolitan appearance, which some might think a little out of harmony with Carmel's proverbial distaste for anything ostentatious.

come in for the benefits?

Certainly there are waiting and willing all the people needed to organize a club in Carmel. They need only to get together; and with that object in view the Sun urges every person interested to call either at the office of F. O. Robbins or the Carmel Sun, to help arrange for a public meeting to be held soon.

GARDEN SECTION TALK

The Garden Section of the Carmel Woman's club met on Thursday, March 21st, at the home of the Misses Pierce, Lincoln and Eighth. The speaker for the morning was Mrs. Helen Lyman, of Oakland, who read a delightful paper on herbs entitled "The Law and Lure of the Herb Garden." As far back as the eighth century, said Mrs. Lyman, there were books on herbs. They were used as remedies and charms. The Chinese have long used herbs for medicine. Egypt used herbs for domestic purposes, as did Mexico under the Aztec rule, and ancient Greece. In Saxon times, herbs were used extensively for medicinal purposes. In Queen Elizabeth's reign there was scarcely a garden that did not have its herb patch. The North American Indians also understood the beneficial use of herbs as remedies, and the Pilgrim Fathers brought with them their packets of seeds and started their herb gardens in New England. The growing of herbs has been neglected for many years, but is coming back in popularity. Herbs are best grown in sandy soil. They can be propagated easily from cuttings, or in some cases by division. One point is of vital importance to their welfare. The location of the plants must be in full sun for them to prosper. Mrs. Lyman said the three best methods for grouping herbs are in a rock garden, along both sides of a garden path, or in a little Shakespeare garden. Herbs are sun-worshippers, and a rock garden is an ideal place, using good-sized rocks rather than many smaller ones. The French people are past-masters in the art of using herbs in cooking, and thoroughly understand their worth. Gardens may come, and gardens may go, said the speaker, but the herb garden goes on forever.

"Thou, O Lord, shalt endure forever; and thy remembrance unto all generations." These words from Psalms comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, March 31, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Reality." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "And the disciples came, and said unto him, Why speakest thou unto them in parables? He answered and said unto them, Because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given. For verily I say unto you, That many prophets and righteous men have desired to see those things which ye see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them" (Matthew 13: 10, 11, 17).

The following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "What is termed material sense can report only a mortal temporary sense of things, whereas spiritual sense can bear witness only to Truth. . . . Spiritual ideas lead up to their divine origin, God, and to the spiritual sense of being" (p. 298).

Annual savings in expenditure for street lighting amounting to a total of $1143.96 will be realized by the cities of Monterey, Pacific Grove and Carmel from the reduction of approximately 10 per cent in street lighting rates recently announced by the Pacific Gas and Electric company.

T. W. Snell, division manager for the utility company with headquarters at Salinas, has sent letters to the city council of each of the three municipalities informing them of the amounts they may expect to save under the new schedule. They are as follows:

Monterey, $689.88 per year
Pacific Grove, $372.48 per year.
Carmel, $81.60 per year.

The estimates are on the basis of the number of lamps now in service. The new schedule applies to company-owned street lighting systems in incorporated areas throughout P. G. and E. territory. It was made effective March 1.

A MEMORIAL

Dedicated to the memory of Thos. Shrewsbury Parkhurst, who passed March 26, 1923.

No spot on earth so dear to me at night
Where stars and silvery moonlight shine o'er
Carmel Highlands-by-the-Sea.
And stately pine trees outlined 'gainst the sky like sentinels
Keep watch until the morning dawns
For you and me.

No spot on earth so dear to me when nature's day breaks forth
O'er Carmel Highlands-by-the-Sea—
"Fullness of Peace, Power and Plenty" breathed from Sun, and misty fog, and rain, till evening shadows fall again
For you and me.

And when to us the final summons comes Methinks that mirro'd in the Great Beyond will be God's "little bit of heaven on earth"—
Carmel Highlands-by-the-Sea,

ELIZABETH S. CHAMBERLIN.

The Pilots walloped the Blues in a very one-sided contest. The Blues have been the hard-luck team of the present series—and if the league starts—a second series—which I sincerely hope they do. I will look to see the Blues with Ivan Kelsey pitching—making a better showing. The Pilots, with Dick Masten's good pitching and timely hitting of the team—left little doubt from the start of the game that the Pilots would win. The final score was Pilots 10, Blues 3. This game was devoid of any particular, interesting features, but this left the stage set for the real game of the season—the Shamrocks, coming from behind to stage a rally that almost won them the ball game—and were leading in the first half of the last inning by one run. Then, in the final half, with their backs up to the wall, the Giants staged a final rally that made Custer's last fight look like 30 cents' worth of dog meat. Little and two on the bases, belted one "Frankie" Townsend, with one out out to deep right, and two runs crossed the old soup plate, bringing in the bacon for the Giants. "Fat" Rico was the star of the outfield for the Giants. He made one of the greatest catches ever made in this league, or any other league for that matter—and between him and Fred Godwin, just about won the old ball game for the Giants. Oh, yes, Frank Townsend should come in for his share of credit of breaking up this game, and it was his sock into right field that won the old ball game. The Shamrocks put up a game fight and it was a tough come to loo-e—but the Giants deserved to win—and did so. The final score read, when By Ford calmly walked off the field—and said to his 10 fighting Shamrocks — "Let's give the Giants a yell!"

Batterie, for the first game:

Blues vs. Pilots: For the Blues—pitcher, Stevie Marble you didn't do so bad, "Stevie"; catcher, Fred Warren. Pilots—Dick Masten, pitcher; Fred Godwin, catcher. Umpires—behind the plate, Stanford; on bases, Tal of Jessayn.

Giants vs. Shamrocks—pitcher for Shamrocks, By Ford; catcher for Shamrocks, Spike Tremayne. Pitcher for the Giants, "Rosey" Henry; catcher for the Giants, Otto Bardarson (poor little fellows: neither one of them weigh over 65 pounds?) Umpires, behind plate, Stanford; bases, Ralph Tuck.

Standing of the Teams:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Shamrocks	4	1	.80
Pilots	3	2	.60
Giants	2	3	.40
Blues	1	4	.20

Fantastic?

By A. B. COLBURN

Nationally, if it is fantastic to in part pay for the service of the folks who have pioneered and built tremendous constructive forces into the foundation of the present generation, then the Townsend plan is fantastic. If it is fantastic to intelligently pour one and a half billions of dollars into the regular channels of trade every month—every year so directly that there can be no political graft or misappropriation of the funds by any one, then the Townsend plan is fantastic.

If, with 10 million men and women out of work and work is planned for less than half of them, it is fantastic to distribute sums of money direct and without delay sufficient to free these men and women from the sting of dole by giving them an honest job at a fair wage, then the Townsend plan is fantastic.

If it is not fantastic to pay over and over billions and billions of dollars to support the poverty-stricken folks of our country, as the government is doing and must continue to do under its present plan, then the Townsend plan, which would remove a large percentage of our actual poverty, is not fantastic.

Who says the Townsend plan is fantastic?

NOT the old folks, tens of thousands of whom have but abject poverty and suffering to look forward to! NOT the harassed fathers and mothers besmirched with the taint of dole looking for honest work by which to support their families! NOT organized labor, for its mental balance and intensive organized activity clearly shows it that intensive suffering and moral collapse can be averted only by some such direct plan!

Big Business says the Townsend plan is fantastic, an assertion made wholly out of sympathy with human contentment and happiness and the general welfare of our national government.

Big bankers say Townsend's plan is fantastic. Its adoption would take from big bankers the power to squeeze millions of dollars of interest to add to their already ungodly accumulations.

With the vast sums of money and effort that have already been spent towards stabilization, and still the remote uncertainty of it, our government and big business should have enough horse sense to send; for immediately and directly it starts, its large supply of endless, available funds will flow normally into even the remote channels of everyday business activity so plentifully that the vital forces of economic and financial readjustment must be stirred into constructive and intensive action; and it is clear that at the end of a four-year struggle with depression our piecemeal plans are not sufficient. Only by some plan with wholesomeness in it, free from government indirectness and political wig-wag, is an actual stabilization possible.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Carmel Sun:

The laws and ordinances whereby Carmel or any other city is governed are designed to do the most good for the city, its present and future. City means the majority of the property owners and taxpayers.

These laws and ordinances are tried by time and experience.

They can be changed or amended only by due consideration of the principles involved and by the expressed opinion of the majority and not at the request of any small group who wish to benefit themselves to the detriment of the whole city.

The average person is inarticulate to the extent of being unable to state clearly a proposal and consequently our Council is fortunate to have as a member one trained in legal lore who can interpret and state facts clearly and correctly and from years of experience draw from a proposer the exact idea that is being proposed and who knows immediately if this idea fits with the laws and ordinances already in existence.

Individually and collectively we Americans are suffering more than we realize from immature legislation and the less we have of it locally the more we can be congratulated.

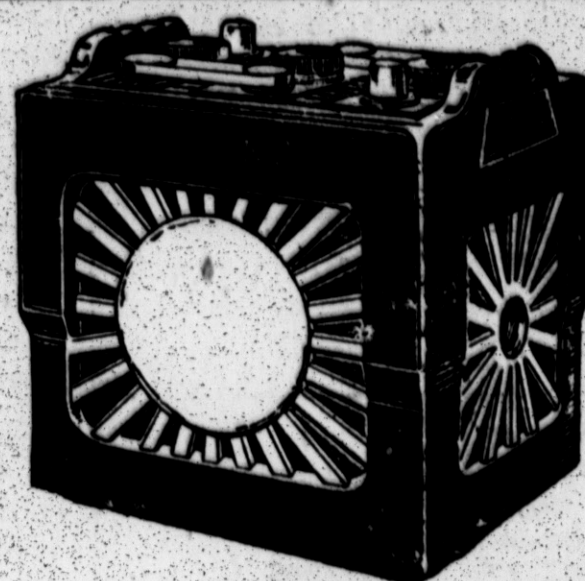

With all due respect to the present and past members of our City Council, or Councils of other cities, we know of no other instance where a member serving without personal reward gives, or has given, as much time for the best interests of our city as John Catlin. Our low tax bills are primarily his work, to mention only one item.

And we resent any suggestion of his being dubbed "dictator" or anything similar. Rather his honesty and invaluable services should be publicly acknowledged.

With John Catlin as police and fire commissioner these organizations will be in receipt of careful and proper instruction by one who is capable and has the best interest of the city at heart.
